The Story of Iranian Cinema

4 x 30 min Documentary

Episodes: After The Revolution, Poverty and Wealth plus series finale Ten Greatest Films.

In a landmark series, film experts like Mark Cousins join Iran's top directors and actors on a fascinating journey exploring how Iran's sophisticated and world beating cinema reflected and changed a turbulent society over the last 100 years - from the Shah's reign of fear and patronage, through Islamic Revolutionary censorship and sharp criticism of the current regime. Films include Cannes winner Persepolis, Oscar winner Children of Heaven, internationally successful films The Runner, Crimson Gold and the secretly made Tehran Taxi.
