Stella is an experienced all-round designer based in London. In addition to her main specialism, graphic design, her practice also incorporates illustration, photography and moving image. She previously worked in Shoreditch as a Digital Media Designer for Fuse Universal and is now her own company Belle Hex Limited. She particularly enjoys creative collaborations with others from various backgrounds. Most recently, she created visual content for 3D projection mapping at The Secret Garden Party Festival 2014, BoomTown Fair 2014 and title sequences for Match&Fuse Festival 2014. Her illustrative work also includes a projection mapped series of animations at the secret location of pop-up restaurants, Gingerline. Utilising all skills from her varied specialisms ensures strong experimentation in a multidisciplinary approach.
