Skills

Agathe is a video director, editor & creative Swiss army knife. She co-founded two creative video companies, while building an eclectic portfolio of commercials, branded content, music videos and art films, both scripted and unscripted. Her experience spans screenwriting, directing, cutting and executive producing all kinds of projects for the past 20 years, both in France (her homeland) and in the UK. Agathe is flexible, she can join in on a project at the ideation stage and help with its conception and writing, work on a director's creative treatment based off a fleshed out idea, or jump in at the post production stage.
